Are you a patient with thalassaemia?

Do you have a child or a parent with thalassaemia?

Are you a member of a patients' association?

Are you a treating physician of patients with thalassaemia?

Is thalassaemia part of your life in some way?

Then we invite you to actively take part in our contest for the #ITD2019 and tell us:

➢ Are all patients with thalassaemia entitled to free of charge public healthcare services in your country? How would you describe the quality, sufficiency, and safety of these services?

➢ Are out-of-pocket expenses for thalassaemia healthcare services a common practice where you live? Can patients easily afford them?

➢ What are the major challenges that your country is encountering with regards to thalassaemia management and treatment?

➢ Are there specific welfare policies in place for thalassaemia patients? To what extent are they accessible and what is their impact?

➢ Long waiting lists are a significant barrier to accessibility of healthcare services. Are patients with thalassaemia getting timely treatment where you live?

➢ Do you believe that patients with thalassaemia are knowledgeable and empowered enough to advocate for improved access and quality in healthcare services?

➢ To what degree do patients participate in national decision-making bodies and policy making?

Your submission may focus on one or more of the above.
